NUMB. 4073

SATURDAY, MARCH 2, 1745.

...day in the Afternoon, and Yesterday, arriv'd the Mails due from Holland and Flanders.

Petersburgh, February 13.

THERE was on the 7th a great Assembly at Court, when the Earl of Hyndford, his Britannick Majesty's Ambassador, was presented to the Empress as a private Person, and was receiv'd with great Marks of Esteem and Favour. At the same Time M. Pizold, Resident from the King of Poland, ...ctor of Saxony, was likewise presented to the Cza... His Imperial Highness appear'd then, for the first ...e, in Publick, since his Recovery from the Small ...; and it was observ'd with great Satisfaction, by all ...were present, that his Highness was grown much ..., look'd fresher in the Face, and had little or no Ap...ce of being mark'd by the Distemper. It is not ...wn what Turn the Death of the Emperor may give ...e Face of Affairs in this Court; but it is believ'd ...Imperial Majesty will endeavour, as much as it is ...ble, to avoid meddling with the Affairs of Germany, ...ess than he is oblig'd by Treaty.

Vienna, February 23. The Count de Bruhl, his Po...ish Majesty's First Minister, has written a Letter to Car... Lipski, our Primate, signifying, that whatever ...e Affairs of Europe may take, the Engagements ...Majesty is under to the Republick of Poland will be ...ys first in his Thoughts, and nearest his Heart: ...t that tho' his Presence, at this Juncture, is ex...ely necessary in Saxony, on Account of the Vica... of the Empire, yet his Majesty, to shew his Con...n for the Interests of Poland, was determined not to ...the usual Time for assembling a Dyet, but to re...rn that Kingdom as soon as possible, in order to ...an extraordinary Dyet, which will assemble at Cra... and the Universals for which are already signed. ...Count de St. Severin, the French Minister, has been ...tely busy here since the King's Departure, and has ...ued frequently with the Senate. We cannot pe...ate the Design of his Negotiations, which are, how...believed to be of some Importance for several ..., that cannot at present be committed to Paper. ...e Czartoryski, Palatine of Russia, who is ap...ted Overseer of the Last Will and Testament of ...e Lubomerski, has caused the Castle of Ujasdou, ...ch are most of that Prince's Jewels, and other ...ble Effects, to be invested. Though there is no...ing in this either contrary to Law, or prejudicial to ...e Rights of any other Person, yet People, of a pa...ve Turn, cannot help wishing, that the Palatine of ...Land acted, upon this Occasion, with greater Mo...ion.

Dresden, February 24. The Court of Saxony, ever since ...s Concert with that of Vienna, has been labour...g to obtain the Cannon left there at the Time this ...ce was evacuated by the Saxon Troops, but to no pur...se till very lately; when the Queen, our Sovereign, ...graciously pleased to grant an Order for the carry...g off that Artillery to Dresden; and, at the same ...e, as a further Mark of her Esteem and cordial Af...ion for that Monarch, she has made him a Present ...of the French Artillery taken at the same Time. A ...ge preparations here, as if her Majesty would shortly ...ney further with the Arch-Duke Joseph, and cause ...m to be crown'd King of Bohemia; in order to put ...end to the Disputes about the Activity of the Voice ...Electorate.

Hague, February 27. It is very certain that the Mar...s de Valori made some Proposition to our Court on ...alf of his most Christian Majesty, signifying the ...isfaction with which that Monarch would behold ...e Imperial Diadem placed on the Head of the King ...Bohemia; to which, it is said, no other Answer ...s given than this; That the King had not the least ...ion to cabal, or intrigue on that Head at all, but ...ed it entirely to the Electoral College, to whom ...it of right belongs. And the above-mention'd Mini...r is given to understand, that nothing could give ...Majesty greater Uneasiness than the Interposition of ...y Foreign Power whatever, in any thing relating to ...approaching Election of a Head of the Empire. ...Marshal Count Konigseg set out the Day before ...yesterday for the Hague. During his Stay in this City, ...e had several Conferences with the Duke de Saxe Weis... ...enfels and the Count de Bruhl; in Consequence of ...which we are assur'd that a Body of 10 or 12,000 Men ...of the Troops will immediately march into the Em...pire, to assist the Allies in obliging the French to evacuate Germany; and that the Queen of Hungary will recall the like Number of her Troops out of Bavaria and the Upper Palatinate, in order to send them into Silesia to act against the Prussians.

Vienna, February 24. The Queen, and the young Arch-Duke, are as well as can be expected. It is said, that his Royal Highness the Duke, Co-Regent, and his Brother, Prince Charles of Lorrain, will speedily go to meet the Princess Charlotte of Lorrain, their Sister, who is coming hither by the Way of Switzerland and Tyrol. The Count de Loos, Minister Extraordinary from the King of Poland, Elector of Saxony, set out on the 21st from hence for Munich, in order to persuade that Court, if it be possible, to enter sincerely, and in earnest, on a Negotiation for putting an absolute End to the Differences which have so long subsisted between the Houses of Austria and Bavaria; to facilitate which, the Queen, our Sovereign, has been pleased to offer to withdraw her Forces out of Bavaria; and to leave the Pretensions of that House on the Austrian Succession, to the Determination of the general Dyet of the Empire; provided his Electoral Highness will immediately renounce the Alliances he has enter'd into with the Enemies to the Independency of Germany, and the Peace of Europe.

Francfort, March 3. M. Maillebois, who has lately received Orders from his Court to maintain himself at all Events in the Empire, arrived here on the 28th of last Month, at the House of M. de la Noue, where he received the Compliments of the Magistrates of this City; to whom he gave the strongest Assurances of his Most Christian Majesty's favourable Intentions towards this City, and his Desire to preserve its Rights and Privileges inviolable; exhorting the Deputies, at the same Time, not to suffer the Hanoverians, or any other Troops of the Allies, to encamp on their Territories. According to the Dispositions that are now making by the French, it appears evidently, their Intention is to maintain themselves in our Neighbourhood if they can, to support and reinforce, or, at least, keep open their Communication with the Troops they have in Swabia and in Bavaria; so that Things have once more changed their Face here, and put on a Warlike Appearance. In the mean time the Hanoverians on one Side, and the Army under the Command of the Duke of Aremberg on the other, continue to advance with all imaginable Diligence, so that it cannot be long before Things come to a Crisis here.

Paris, February 25. The Prince de Campo Florido, the Spanish Minister, pretends to have received Advice of an Action that has lately happened at Sea, near the Streights of Gibraltar, between 12 English Men of War, commanded by Vice-Admiral Rowley, and 10 French Ships, commanded by the Chevalier de Piosin; of which however he gives us no other Particulars, than that the English have been very rudely handled; which has obliged them to return to Portmahon, in order to refit. The Story itself is dark, and improbable; for which Reason it does not gain any great Credit here; more especially, as the Court has had no Account of any such Action.

Hague, March 9. We see here a Copy of the Quadruple Alliance, lately signed at Warsaw, which contains 11 Articles. The First is general, and only declares, that henceforward there shall be a constant and inviolable good Understanding, Friendship, and Alliance, between the King of Great-Britain, the Queen of Hungary and Bohemia, his Polish Majesty, and the States-General. The Second engages, that the High contracting Powers shall act in perfect Concert, for restoring Peace and good Order in Europe, and especially in the Empire, as well as to maintain all former Treaties and Guarantees. By the Third his Polish Majesty confirms and renews his Guaranty of the Pragmatick Sanction, as do likewise the King of Great-Britain and the States-General. It is provided by the Fourth, that in case the Kingdom of Bohemia should be hereafter attacked, his Polish Majesty shall send an Army of 30,000 Men to act on that Side, for the Service of the Queen of Hungary. It is declared by the Fifth, that, to defray the Expence of so powerful an Armament, the Maratime Powers shall grant his Polish Majesty an annual Subsidy of 150,000 Pounds Sterling, to commence the First of January 1745; 100,000 l. to be paid by Great-Britain, and 50,000 l. by the States. It is agreed by the Sixth, that as soon as the Danger shall be over on the Side of Bohemia, his Polish Majesty shall march, in Consideration of a Subsidy of 90,000 l. 10,000 Men of his Troops into the Low-Countries, or into the Empire, as his Britannick Majesty and the States-General shall see convenient, and for the Good of the Common Cause. By the Seventh it is declared, that in case his Polish Majesty shou'd draw upon himself a War, in Consequence of these Measures, he shall be therein supported by his Allies. The Eighth recites, that if it shall please Almighty God to prosper the Arms of his Polish Majesty and his Allies, no Peace shall be made without his Consent, or without obtaining for him proper Satisfaction. It is stipulated by the Ninth, that in case of a general Peace, the High contracting Powers shall still remain closely united, and shall let slip no Opportunity of acting vigorously for each other's Benefit and Advantage. Her Imperial Majesty of Russia, and the Republick of Poland, are, by the Tenth Article, invited to accede as principal contracting Parties to this Alliance: And it is farther declared, that all Kings, Electors, Princes, and States, that have the Cause of Liberty, Publick Security, and the Preservation of the present System of Europe at Heart, and are desirous to accede to this Treaty, shall be admitted. The Eleventh Article relates to the Ratifications of this Alliance, which are to be exchanged in Two Months. It is dated at Warsaw, January 8, 1745, and signed by the following Ministers; viz. on the Part of the King of Great-Britain, by Mr. Villiers; on the Part of the Queen of Hungary, by the Count de Esterhazi; by the Count de Bruhl, on the Part of the King of Poland; and by M. Kalkoen, on the Part of the States-General of the United Provinces.

HOME PORTS.

Barnstable, February 26. This Day passed by our Bay a Ship unknown, having a French Ensign under the English, and is supposed to be a French Prize, bound to Bristol. To Appearance she is about 200 Tons, and deeply loaded. Translated by a Society of Gentlemen, and published by JOHN HAY, Esq.

EXTRACT from the PREFACE.

The Beauty and Elevation of his Stile is equal to the Greatness and Glory of the People whose Story he writes: He is every where luminous, intelligible, and agreeable; but when he enters into important Affairs, he rises even above himself, to treat them with peculiar Attention, and a Kind of Self-delight and Complacency. He renders the Action he describes present; he sets it before the Eyes; he does not relate it, he shews it. He paints the Genius and Character of Personages he brings upon the Stage after Nature; and puts into their Mouths Words which are always conformable to their Sentiments and different Situations. In short, he has the wonderful Art of keeping his Readers in so pleasing a Suspence by the Variety of Events, and to engage their Curiosity so strangely, that they cannot quit his Relation of an Incident till it is entirely at an End.

Printed for T. Osborne in Gray's Inn.
